ARGUMENTS FOR ONLY TEN

Counsel Will Make No Appeal for Rockefeller

EXPECTS PLEA TO BRING DISMISSAL

Only One Through Entire Period a Director in New Haven

New York, Dec. 24.—No argument for the dismissal of the indictment against William Rockefeller individually will be made by his counsel at his trial with 10 other former directors of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad on the charge of conspiring to monopolize commerce under the Sherman anti-trust law. This became known yesterday when Judge Hunt inquired, while hearing individual argument for other defendants, how many more there were to be heard. Counsel for two responding brought the total number to be heard to 10, and it was then learned that Richard V. Lindbergh, counsel for Mr. Rockefeller, did not intend to make an individual plea for his client. He will rest his chances on the general plea already made for the dismissal of the entire case. Mr. Rockefeller is the only one of the defendants whose tenure of office as a New Haven director has extended throughout the entire 25-year period of the alleged conspiracy and the only participant in alleged unlawful acts committed long before most of his fellow defendants became directors.

Judge Hunt at the morning session heard argument in behalf of Charles F. Brooker, Pleas for D. Newton Barney and Edward D. Robbins were heard in the afternoon, after which the court heard the answer of government counsel. Judge Hunt indicated that he would entertain a motion to strike out a portion of the government's testimony against Brooker, having to do with the alleged suppression of trolley line competition. This consisted of a letter written to Brooker by the late John M. Hall, former president of the New Haven, requesting him to use his influence with a Connecticut legislator to prevent the construction of a trolley line. Mr. Dorra raised the point that the line was not mentioned in the indictment. Judge Hunt said that was in accord with his recollection and that he would strike the letter out if, after examining the record, such proved to be the case.

Mr. Brooker, president of the American Brass company and former member of the Republican national committee, was longer a member of the New Haven directorate than any other defendant on trial with the exception of William Rockefeller. He joined the board in 1894. Beginning with that date his attorney took up seriously the various acquisitions made by the New Haven and sought to show the court the benefits that ensued, and argued that Brooker, in voting for these acquisitions was inspired by "practical business common sense." There was nothing in the evidence to show, the lawyer maintained,

Full of Rheumatism

Your Case Is Not Hopeless When You Know Where to Seek Relief

The Red Cross Pharmacy or any drugist in this city will promise to give you money back if you are not cured of rheumatism after using two bottles of genuine Rheuma. To those who know the wonderful results secured with Rheuma, this offer is not necessary, but there are many who have failed to get results with other medicines, and this offer is made to convince the skeptical.

Hear what T. M. Baird of Delton, Mich., has to say: "I was taken with rheumatism in my hips and limbs. It was all I could do to walk or work. Last spring I tried a bottle of Rheuma, and three bottles did the work. I am not the only one here who has been benefited." Rheuma rids the system of uric acid, the poisonous sediment which is the chief cause of rheumatism.

Be sure to get the genuine—ask for Rheuma in liquid form. 30 cents.—Adv.

ITCHING NEARLY DROVE A WHOLE FAMILY CRAZY

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 24, 1914:—"My husband had a rash all over his body, and soon the WHOLE FAMILY was in the same condition. It looked scaly and raised up on the arms and body in big bumps. This trouble burned and itched so that it would nearly drive one crazy. It was always worse at night, so we could not sleep. We all had this trouble for about two or three years, and during that time tried many remedies and prescriptions with no results. We tried Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap and it RELIEVED AT ONCE, and before the third jar of ointment had been used, we were all completely cured. It took four months since we were cured, and there are no traces of the trouble."—(Signed) Mrs. S. A. Clarkson, 1520 Lawn Ave.

that his client had "a criminal purpose." Judge Hunt, in the course of the attorney's argument, conceded that "moral obliquity is not necessarily involved in the statute. By this I mean," he continued, "that moral turpitude may be entirely out of the case as distinguished from a malignant heart, a perverted mind, or a willful determination to cheat or steal. Always, however, there must be found in proof of a conspiracy, the purpose to violate the law, either recklessly to disregard the law, or intentionally to violate its provisions."

BLAMES NATIVE-BORN

For Lack of Patriotism Shown by the Foreign-born.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 23.—Unpatriotic influences fostered by native-born Americans, growing out of the lack of harmony among classes and resulting in "an order of universal condemnation," were held largely responsible in an address here last night by Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois for the activities of foreign-born citizens condemned in President Wilson's recent address to Congress. "It is appropriate," said Senator Lewis, who spoke before the New England Society of Pennsylvania, "to call attention to the truth that the native-born American citizen has been the educator of the foreign-born American citizen."

"For the last 10 years," he continued, "there has been nothing in America which the native-born American could find to praise. Everything has been unworthy of support or credit. This order of universal condemnation has been divided into two classes: "First, the powerful, holding their power from wealth or the accident of position, could see nothing in the demand of the masses for justice except the cry of anarchy. They ever condemned the effort to equalize the privileges and opportunities of men as the protest of Socialism. They concluded their arraignment of the poor for justice, the middle class for opportunity, and those who struggled for the acknowledgment of the laws of man and God, as either ignorance or crime."

"Here began the first damnation by one set of Americans of the other class in order to avoid the consideration of their complaints or respecting their grievances. Then followed the natural revenge. The under classes cried out their condemnation against everything that was property or prosperous. This retaliation took the form of accusation against all law-makers as crooks, the impeachment of officials as embezzlers, and judgment and execution against all authority, political or religious, or possessions, earned or inherited."

"Then there arose in the community self-selected leaders, who to advance their ambitions for office or noisy recognition, capitalized these roarings of discontent under the hue and cry of—'Down with society.' 'Death to the courts.' 'Contempt for the law.' a scoff at religion and a defiance of God."

"The result was that in the last 20 years the new-born American and the imported American have known nothing of America except that it was a place where all other Americans certified there were no men of honor, no things of decency, no institution in which any man could have a purpose except to overthrow as being unworthy."

"As a remedy we should promptly establish by law that the right of a citizen to participate in elections is a duty; that the failure of the citizen to perform his duty at the ballot box consecutively for a certain length of time, should be punished by having the right of suffrage withdrawn from him. To this there should be added the further law, enforcing upon all who have enjoyed the benefits of naturalization, the duty to comply with citizenship as loyal Americans, and prescribing that any citizen whose conduct is such as to be unworthy of citizenship should, upon the proof of such fact, have the citizenship withdrawn by the order of the courts. With these two remedies reserved to the government, there would be less disabatement of this high prerogative and more of devotion to citizenship in order to be worthy of its continued enjoyment."

Boston Again.

A New Yorker, who recently returned from a visit to Boston, vouches for the truth of the following: One afternoon he found the 4-year-old son of his host seated in front of the drawing-room fire with a sheet of paper before him and a pencil clamped in his chubby fist. Stealing a look over the boy's shoulder, he saw that the little fellow was making pictures.

"Well, baby," he asked peevishly, "are you drawing an engine?"

Slowly the child looked up and slowly he spoke:

"It would take a very strong boy to draw an engine; but I am making a picture of a locomotive."—Youth's Companion.

PREMIER BORDEN TELLS OF CANADA'S FRIENDSHIP

Says Relations with United States Were Never More Firmly Founded on Good Understanding Than at the Present Time.

New York, Dec. 24.—Sir Robert Laird Borden, the Canadian premier, addressed the Pilgrims Society of New York at a luncheon here yesterday on relations between Canada and the United States and between Canada and Great Britain.

The relations between the dominion and the United States, the premier believed, "were never more firmly founded on true understanding and sincere good will, than at present"; and as for Canada and the mother country, he said, they were "never so closely united in ideal, inspiration and effort" as at the present time.

In part, Sir Robert spoke as follows: "From ocean to ocean across this continent runs a boundary line of nearly four thousand miles entirely unguarded on either side. Upon the Great Lakes for more than a century the armed forces of each country have been reduced to a point which forbids the thought of aggression. The agreement which accomplished so great a result was made between Great Britain and the United States fifty years before the Canadian federation came into being. It is embodied in a few letters exchanged between their diplomatic representatives and it can be terminated upon six months' notice. But for a hundred years it has held good and I believe it will always hold good. Does it not mark an impressive epoch in the relations of the two countries?"

"During the past half century or more those relations have on the whole been intimate and friendly; during the past twenty-five years they have steadily improved, and I believe they were never more firmly founded on true understanding and sincere good will than at present. At times situations have arisen which proved difficult and delicate, if not dangerous; and they demanded forbearance, restraint and the most attentive consideration of the other's viewpoint. All honor to the statesmen who so guided the affairs of either country as to prevent the awful calamity of war between

18 POUNDS OF BLOOD

Is the average quantity in a healthy adult, but it is the quality of the blood that determines our strength to resist sickness. With weak blood we find cold hands and chilly feet; in children an aversion to study, and in adults rheumatic tendencies.

In changing seasons get abundant fresh air and take a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion after meals, because Scott's Emulsion is a rich blood-food that will increase both quantity and quality of the blood while it warms the body and helps carry off the impurities.

When multitudes of people are today taking Scott's Emulsion to avert winter sickness, and are giving it to their children, it is careless to neglect its benefits. Look out for substitutes.

war and the awful responsibility of those who forced it upon the world.

"The outbreak of hostilities found us utterly unprepared with military forces adequate for the vast operations which were immediately found necessary. Never perhaps, not even in the stress which came upon this republic more than half a century ago, has the capacity of democracy been so thoroughly and searchingly tested. We were called upon to meet the assault of the greatest military power ever known in the world, a highly efficient, thoroughly organized and determined people, trained to arms, magnificently equipped, provided with every military necessity and so industrially organized that the whole force of the nation could be thrown behind the blow which it struck."

"Armies cannot be organized and trained, nor munitions provided in a day. The task has been difficult but the effort has been great. It would not have been undertaken nor could it be accomplished except for the most intense conviction of a righteous cause and the firmest determination to make it prevail."

"Without pausing to speak of the mighty influence which this war must exercise upon the world's future, I may be permitted to express my conception of what it will accomplish for the closer unity of our empire. Never before have the mother country and the various dominions and dependencies been so closely united in ideal, inspiration and effort as in this conflict. In hospitals and convalescent homes beyond the seas I have many times met men from the British Islands from Australia, New Zealand and Canada brought together in close association and comradeship, each learning the better to realize their empire, and all united in a common determination to do their duty in this war to the end. One can hardly exaggerate the immense advantage of such association and blending of the empire's manhood."

"All war is tragedy and this war the greatest tragedy the world has ever known. We all pray for the day when 'The roaring of war shall cease upon the air.'

"Falling of tears and all the voices of sorrow; but it is a very peace, peace, when there is no peace. The ideals involved in this conflict are wholly irreconcilable and until one of them finally prevails no peace can be enduring. However hard the struggle may be and whatever sacrifices it may entail, the Canadian people will not shrink from the test. They are a peace-loving and not a militarist people, but their conception of the cause for which they are fighting is such as to animate them with the sternest resolve to make it triumphant."
